Drinking Patrolman

After deferring action on four of six trial cases to come before them, police committee of city council Thursday night stepped aside for the first time from its stand on drinking in the ranks of the police force, and approved a 20-day suspension for Patrolman W. M. Harris, who entered a plea of guilty to being drunk on duty.

The suspension was at first fixed at 90 days but later changed to 30 days and Harris given a stiff lecture by members of the board. The leniency was shown, it was stated, because Harris has a dependent aminafflicted child. Patrolman A. D. Poole had a suspension of 21 days approved on a charge of misusing city property.

While additional replies are expected today from the appeal of the farm bloc committee to legislators, assembly leaders here Thursday were inclined to the opinion that a majority will never agree to come here without receiving pay and mileage. It is not so much the case of being unwilling to sacrifice personal interests for the farmers, some of the more prominent members pointed out, as it is opposition to any attempt to control cotton planting without the adoption by Texas of the Loug plan.

After Commissioner Talmadge had announced that Governor Long was "through" with the fight, the Georgia commissioner sent the Louisiana executive the following wire:

THESE tempting, slightly-salted crackers are made up of hundreds of tiny, tender flakes. No wonder they're so tenderly crisp. So crisp, in fact, we even call them Krispy Crackers.

Keep them on the table all through meals. They're crammed full of healthful calories. And they're economical, too ... But best of all, they're enticingly flavorful and delicious!

It is commonly supposed that the success or failure of marriage depends on love, but no love is great enough to bind two people who have no tastes or standards in common

The pity of it is that love feeds on imagination and often leads its victims to the altar before they discover the reality that destroys it.

The cause of love is nine parts youth and one part propinquity. Young people in love may think they were made for one another, but the unromantic truth is that they fall in love because chance or parental design brought them often together.

If they fell in love quickly, without having time to compare tastes, only the rarest good fortune can make them happy together in the intimacy of marriage-unless they are young enough to develop new Once love is awakened, it is too late to consult reason. For good

ISECOND HOP SEEN FOR OCEAN FLIERS

Moyle and Allen Expected To Attempt Pacific Flight Again.

SEATTLE, Sept. 17.—(P)—Possibility that Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, California aviators forced down by fuel shortage off the Siberian coast last week and missing until yesterday, were planning another attempt to span the north Pacific in a single hon was seen in disfic in a single hop, was seen in dis-patches received here today.

The Russian steamer Buriat, which found the fliers on an uninhabited island off Cape Navarin and refueled their plane, first reported to the naval radio station at St. Paul island, in Bering sea, that the fliers would continue their flight to Seattle.

tinue their flight to Seattle.

Later, in communicating with another Russian vessel, the Buriat was overheard mentioning Tokyo as a possible objective for the fliers. This might indicate, aviation men pointed out here, that the fliers were considering returning to Japan for another transition of the fliers were reported by the Buriat to be in "perfect condition." A storm raging around Navarin island will have to subside, the Buriat said, before the American airmen will take off.

Reports received by the United States weather bureau here indicated weather along the route over the weather along the route over the southern part of Bering sea was un-favorable for flying, but that it was clear at Nome, farther to the north.

LINDY AND ANNE LAND SAFELY AT FUKUOKA

FUKUOKA. Japan, Sept. 17.—(P)
Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today after a 300mile flight from Osaka.

Originally they had planned to take off here tomorrow from Nanking, capital of nationalist China, but late tonight announced the flight would be postponed until Saturday because of unfavorabe weather.

They were escorted along the inland sea by a Japan Air Transport Company plane, the services of which were requested by the colonel to avoid the possibility of crossing fortified areas, an offense for which Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American fliers, now awaiting permission of the Japanese government to start a trans-Pacific flight, recently were fined.

EPISCOPAL BISHOP

ASKS REINSTATEMENT

ASKS REINSTATEMENT
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 17.—(P)—A petition for reinstatement has been presented the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church by William Montgomery Brown, who was expelled in October, 1925.

The petition, written by Brown, will be considered by the bishops sitting in council. The meeting will be secret, even secretaries of the house being excluded.

Brown, one time bishop of Arkansas, was expelled when through his writings he denied the divinity of Christ and questioned the fundamental laws of the church.

Rose Hobart Quoted on Effect Of Marital Wrangles on Sexes

"To a woman," Rose Hobart, noted actress of stage and screen, said recently in Hollywood, "no sacrifice is too great, if it be made in the name of love.

"If a man loses his loved one, it does not become such a hopeless tragedy as is the case when a woman is confronted with a similar situation.

"In such cases, a woman does not hold resentment as does a man. Not hold resentment as does a man. Not only is her whole nature fundamentally against such a course, on account of her deep-seated yearning for her mate, but this very feeding prevents even a pretense of indifference for any great length of time.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 17.—(P)
Mississippi Presbyterians can fill the collection plate now with cotton instead of cash.

The Mississippi synod, of the Presbyterian church, in session here today approved a resolution by Rev.
J. E. Wallis, Oxford: that church members might cancel their twoyear-old unpaid church pledges with 20-cents a pound cotton.

The churches will receive the cotton in lieu of the monetary pledges unpaid for two years, crediting the

Why you should be interested in your . Blood Count

It is important to know that the red-blood-cells are the "ships" that sail in the blood stream and carry nourishment and oxygen to all parts of the body . . . they build and sustain-they also remove impurities from the tissues.

Whenever the number of red-blood-cells is materially reduced, lowered vitality ensues and the system becomes more susceptible to the ravages of various diseases. It is a great protection to health and physical well-being to keep the red-blood-cell count up

(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the

-worth knowing:

-let's pause a moment to give those vital red cells the consideration they deserve. They mean so much for better health and happiness.

It is not fair to expect one to like work or to enplay with a "lowered" blood count. So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry. If this is your trouble why not take steps to over-come it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health.

two years' punishment.

Both men were over sixty years old,
each had a family and both were prominent Wilkes county citizens.

After heated words in Elberton in the afternoon they met about sundown at the home of a former tenant of Johnson's about three miles from Elberton. House claimed that Johnson came at him with a knife in his had to fire the fatal shot to save himself. About 40 witnesses, mostly from Wilkes county and many of them character witnesses, testified.

C. E. Sutton, of Washington, and Clarke Edwards assisted Solicitor Skelton, and Tutt and Brown represented the defendant. A motion for new trial was promptly filed and the defendant released on bond.

bids rests upon three essential requirements:

1—The possibility that partner—who is also misled—might interfere must always be carefully weighed. The advantage of surprising the opponents must outweigh the disadvantage of misleading the partner. Only such bidding situations should be chosen for "psychic" bids where partner's possible inference can do no harm, or where subsequent bidding will give a clear cue to him.

2—The player, as a rule must have in reserve an "escape bid" of sufficient strength to carry the bidding bigh without risking severe penalty. This "escape bid," which usually consists of a long and fairly powerful suit, offers a safe retreat not only against opponents but against partner's possible inference. Without elements of real strength in the hand any surprise bid is a bomb charged with sawdust.

3—In passing for a swing or in making an aggressive bid in one suit in order to conceal strength elsewhere lether by opponents or by partner. (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

DEAR MISS CHATF15LD:

I have been married for twelve years to my childhood's sweetheart. She has always been the only woman in the world for me. We have two children of whom I am proud. I am very close to them and give a great deal of time to cultivating friendship with them. I love my home and am not interested in drinking and "good-timing." I love books and good music and an occasional movie. But I am discouraged and unhappy. Perhaps it is selfishness. My wife thinks the demonstration of affection is entirely unnecessary to a happy marriage. She care for noe of the things that mean most to me. I can't find anything that interests her, outside her home. I want to do something about this indifference of hers but I don't know how to begin.

ANSWER:

ANSWER:

No, I do not think you expect too much. You have the right to think that you have been cheated. I have no criticism to offer and no advice, alas! only comment. The unspeakable tragedy of a hungry jobless beggar at the door is like your tragedy. And that wife whom you love and who, no doubt, loves you, in her cool detached fashion, would not turn the hungry beggar away without food, yet because of her nature, which she cannot change, she turns her hungry husband away from his own door. With her mind a wife can control her conduct, but even the mind cannot dictate to the heart. A hungry hearted man is one of the post pitiable objects in the world, or a heart hungry woman, for that matter. Any one can feed physical hunger but only the right one can feed heart hunger. And if the right one hasn't the food to give, where is the solace? Each one must find his own.

In this case there are some solaces that the casual observer can see but

In this case there are some solaces that the casual observer can In this case there are some solaces that the casual observer can see but it is a question if the man whose pain and disappointment blind him, can see them. They are heart warmers, some of them, and mind diverters, some of them, and compensators, some of them. The children are a source of pride and joy. The outside amusements, and intellectual pleasures of reading and music are big factors in the ilfe of any individual and the one who recognizes

The compensations not to be ignored. Here's a wife who is a home-lover and a probably competent housekeeper. Some men who love order must live in disorder. Here is a wife who is loved despite her limitations and her inability to demonstrate her own affection. It's better to live in the house with someone you love than with someone you hate. Even if your love doesn't awaken an answering response it furnishes some light and heat and satisfaction.

There is no use to rail out at a woman because her nature doesn't match yours. It's no use to reproach her with failure. Like the color of her eyes, and the shape of her hands, she was born with that nature. If there is no solace in these remarks they are prompted by sympathy. If there is no wisdom in them they are the result honest observation.

"Don't you want to go?"

"No, I don't." she said bluntly. "I don't think I shall like the dances."

"You're a funny girl." Then, after a pause, "Do you come to the dance tonight. I'll see you have a good time, though I know that isn't necessary, and I'll take you home afterwards. Telephone your mother you've changed your mind."

"I think I won't, but it's awfully nice of you."

"Well, then," pursued young Haverford, who so seldom pursued, "let the seriousless that a job requires."

"That's funny," said Fabia, slowly. "Some mothers think girls treat coming out too seriously. We've talked about it lots at school. I'd have sworn you'd be one of the mothers who'd be against making a business of coming-out."

It it's looked upon as a mere form of amusement, I would," agreed Lisa, "or if it has no other object than to establish a girl's social status. But if it's valued as a course of training that will better equip her for the life she's likely to lead, I think it deserves serious attention."

"But I'm to be called for at 11 by our chauffeur."

"Well, you can tell him you don't need him, can't you?"

"I suppose so, but—please—I think I'd rather not." She was very definite.

Young Haverford shrugged. "Oh, well, all right," he said. He was not used to being turned down.

Fabia was unaware she had turned him down. Unaware, too, that she was passing by an opportunity that any debutante in Boston that fall would have jumped at. Tuck Haverford was the lion of the Boynton dinner-party. He was usually the lion of any dinner-party he accepted. They were few, such were the rigors of training. An injury received in practice had laid him off the football battlefield for the last fortnight. But the very fact that June had said that Tuck Haverford was a celebritz wade. Fabia therefore

As Fabia observed them, she saw already the handwriting on the wall. Oh, why not avoid a long-drawn-out demonstration of her failure? How was she to endure a whole season of evenings such as this, to be followed by worse ordeals in a ballroom?

Fabia was observing the chocolate-cream operation from an armchair which she had selected when she entered the drawing-room because it was remote. Suddenly she was conscious that one of the boys was approaching. "You don't remember me," he said; "I thought I was making an impression at your dance last night, but evidently I didn't even make a dent. You've given me the icy stare all evening."

"I'm sorry," said Fabia. "What is your name?"

"Oh, really? How funny!"

"Because I've been talking about you today!"

"Oh, you're doing better now."

"I know now perfectly well that you danced with me last night more than once."

"And how did you discover that?"

"Somebody told me you did."

"Somebody told me you did."

"Somebody told you I did! Say, that's good!"

"Fabia flushed. How tactless she had been!

"I'm sorry," she said, and shrugged. Oh, if he would only go! If only McKay would come! The maids were beginning to set up card tables. Fabia stood up. Her chair was in the way.

"I suppose," said young Haverford, "you are engaged for supper tonight?"

Fabia gave him one of her rare smiles. How nice of him when she had just been so clumsy! "I'm sorry but I'm not going to the dance."

"Why not?"

"Why not?"

"Why Ldon't' she said hluntly "I more professionally? "Yes, less as a pastime, more as a poly-your job, this fall, and treat it with the seriousness that a job requires."

"Well, then," pursued young Haverford, who so seldom pursued, "let fife she's likely to lead, I think it deserves serious attention."

But the very fact that June had said that Tuck Haverford was a celebrity made Fabia thankful she had an excuse to side-step an evening with him. She simply could not endure any more tests tonight. She wanted to be alone, to escape. Memories were rushing in upon her with terrific force now, and they burst like blood rushing into veins through which circulation has been temporarily suspended.

Maxie Rosenbloom Due To Arrive Here Today for Bozo Fight

Ralph McGill's Football Review

It's Hard To Believe, But Tennessee Doesn't Look a Bit Weaker.

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles by Ralph McGill, sports editor of The Constitution, dealing with the prospects of Southern conference football teams for the coming season. He is now on a tour of conference football camps, and his daily stories will give Constitution readers first-hand "dope" on the various teams.

By Ralph McGill.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 17 .- Up here where republicans are honest men and democrats are ornery folks, the Orange and White football team is preparing to blow up another storm in southern football circles.

I am speaking of Bob Neyland's Vols, not by any means to be confused with the Nashville Vols who play baseball. Neyland's Vols play swell football and have for quite a spell of time. Do you care for the figures? Here they come. In 1926 the Vanderbilt Commodores' wrecked the Vols. That was Neyland's first year. And from that time until last October, in the year Rosenbloom, according to word received by Max Abelson, spent last Since Neyland came to Tennessee the Vols have been tied but three loreach Atlanta around noon today. 1930, when Alabama licked them, the Vols had not lost a game.

football games and lost two. They have been tied but three times in that period, once by Vanderbilt and twice by Kentucky. And I am not sure but what the season of 1930, when the Vols lost and I am not sure but what the season of 1930, when the vois lost but one game, was not the most remarkable of them all. Gene McEver, one of your greater halfbacks, was out of the game. The next two substitutes were hurt. And both varsity ends were out. And yet with a few breaks in the luck the Vols might have defeated Alabama. They did go on to beat all their other foes, including Vanderbilt, the arch enemy. It was the 1930 season which saw Bobby Dodd, now backfield coach at Georgia Tech, emerge as one of the best quarterbacks the game has seen and one with the stamp of genius on him.

That, of course, is in the past. And in the football business the record books are used only by football reporters who look up the score of the Muskegum game in order to settle somebody's 50-cent bet with an dumnus from Woonsockett.

The football future at Tennessee is looking up. Your cor-respondent sat at a Rotary luncheon here today and heard Major Bob Neyland speak about his football team. Listen carefully.

"It is the largest football squad numerically I have ever had," 'It is also the largest in weight. It is the best balanced squad l've ever had and injuries won't worry us much as we have several men for

It Must Be True.

That is what he told the Rotarians. And a coach doesn't go around telling fibs to the Rotarians because they are honest people and it would not do to receive them.

After the meeting was done your correspondent asked Major Neyland (pronounced Kneeland) how come all this unadulterated optimism?

"I ran slap out of pessimism last year," he said. "Things got so bad wouldn't believe them myself. So I made up my mind I'd always be

The major's squad looks very good indeed. Somehow I got the idea that it wasn't going to be quite as good as the ones he has had during the past five years. It lost Dodd, who was about as near a one-man football team as man could be. It lost a couple of regulars out of the line and it lost Hug and Brandt, the all-Southern ends.

"Dodd to Hackman."

In addition to those losses there was one whom Major Neyland accounts the worst of all so far as scoring was concerning. Buddy Hackman, who was really a pass-catching fool, is gone.

"We ought to carve on the walls somewhere around here the phrase 'Dodd to Hackman,," said the major. Hackman could get loose and free and catch passes that meant touchdowns better than any man I ever saw. He caught about five touchdown passes last year. I sure think we ought to carve that phrase somewhere

The loss of these regulars was not all. There were a number of substitutes to graduate. Twelve good men and true are missing from the though, have them, as the boys say. Gene McEver, the scourge of the gridiron for two years, is back after a year's absence. His knee, injured in the early part of 1930, kept him in hospitals most of the year.

He spent the past summer, after a knee operation, riding bicycles all over the east Tennessee mountains. And the knee is as strong as ever, says McEver. He is ready to go at any time, but Neyland is keeping him out of the scrimmages for a while.

Not a One-Man Team.

"I am not putting all my eggs in one basket," said the riajor. "I am not building my team around McEver. If he can't go we will have some others who can."

There will very likely be three or four, and possibly five, sophomores on this year's eleven.

"Rooster" Feathers, a sophomore back with a lot of speed and legs as powerful as those of Gene McEver's, is creating a lot of furor, as the Bob Neyland pulled them in entirely in the raw and measured them around the thigh. McEver's thigh measures 29 inches, which is as large as a lot of waists you've hugged. And "Rooster" Feathers has a thigh which measures 28 inches.

"I used to deliver meat on a bike every summer and I guess that's got the legs," he said. Feathers is pretty sure to be in the starting backfield. Shack Allan, who runs a lot like Bill Spears, one-time Vandy star and perhaps the fastest starter the south has seen in some time, is a senior back who looks good. Charley Kohlhase, fullback of last season, is back again.

is the lad who was such a marvelous drop-kicker and place-kicker. Mc-Ever, Leo Pretrusse, a lad from New Jersey; Harvey Robinson and Her-bert Brackett are others who are much in the running for backfield jobs.

Another Great Passer.

Robinson is a great passer. "He has the prettiest form I ever saw," Bob Neyland. Your correspondent sniffed at the idea. Bobby Dodd the greatest form. These coaches look at the future.

At any rate the Tennessee backs look good. There are others the may develop. Neyland really hasn't decided a great deal had the greatest form.

about his backs. McEver or Petrusse will be the quarter and Feathers is one half. The others are still fighting. Cox and Disney, last year subs, are making a

The line is pretty well set. Van Rayburn, who got his chance when the regular ends were hurt last season and made good, is back. He's a lead pipe cinch for one end. Murray Warmouth, Alton Mark, Derryberry, 1930 sub, and Holt, 1930 sub, are fighting for the other place. That means the reserves will be plentiful.

Malcolm Aitken and Ray Saunders will be the two tackles, with Franklin, Still and another man or so as reserves.

The guards will be Herman Hickman and Milt Frank, veterans.

The guards will be Herman Hickman and Milt Frank, veterans. Stewart, G. Smith and Ellis are reserves.

Gene Mayer, captain, will be at center. Bert Bibee and T. R. Maples are making a strong bid for the same position.

The Vols have had several scrimmages and they looked very good despite the fact that the backfields were made up largely of sophomores. They must have had a great spring practice. The soph backs didn't learn all the tricks they showed in their first year. They were using punt formations and cutting back with all the skill of veteran players.

One hesitates to say that the Vols won't be as good as ever. They have, as Neyland says, more men and better men. Paul Parker and Bill Prittain are two of the finest assistant coaches any man could have. They have made something out of nothing before.

The Vols are sure to be strong. Just how strong remains to be seen.

. It all depends on those sophomores. And they are a doubtful quantity on any team. The coach never knows, sparred four rounds with Cracker Jack Webb yesterday. He worked two more with another partner.

Pa Stribling's battler did not like it a bit because he was left out of the light-heavyweight ranking by the National Boxing Association. The Dizzy Dean of the pugilists said in comment on the situation:

"The N. B. A. thinks I'm a heavyweight yet I'm fighting light-heavyweights about every week. I suppose they'll have to create a new division for me."

Of course Bozo is confident of beating Rosenbloom, the champion.

"I can't let that guy get away without a licking this time." he says.

The battler holds two newspaper draws with "Rosie" now.

Bozo is playing golf this morning.

Tickets for the bout are on sale at the Wilmot hotel and Candler Building soda fount. They are selling well enough, it is said.

Pa Stribling is due to reach the city sometime today.

A Fast Worker Is the 'Major;' He Rigs 'Em Up

A freshman wandered meekly into the supply room at Georgia Tech yes-terday where "Major" Smith deals "I want a uniform," he said.
"Get those clothes off then," said

"Major" Smith.

The freshman looked a little blank and started to protest, but by that time the major had a pair of foot-ball shoes on him and had laid out his jersey, headgear, pads and pants. The freshman put them on and finally found his way to the field where Kid Clay was putting some 90-odd first year men through the paces.

"What position do you play?" the Kid asked him gruffly, eyeing the meanwhile the none-too-powerful looking lad who must have weighed at least 130 pounds.

"I don't play any position," murmured the befuddled frosh.
"I asked for a uniform and before
I could explain what kind of uniform, the man up there in the office had me all fixed up in this."

He had meant a military uniform, of course, but the major is only fitting out football players these days.

MISS MADDOX, MRS. W. D. DOAK MEET IN FINALS

Rivals Clash Today for City Women's Golf

By Roy White.

Miss Margaret Maddox, defending champion, and Mrs. W. D. Doak, Georgia state champion, will meet at 9 o'clock this morning on the No. 1 East Lake course for the Atlanta women's golf championship. It will be an 18-hole match.

It will be the sixth time that they have met for major titles in the state. Miss Maddox has won three city events, while Mrs. Doak won an invitation and a state meet.

The Maddox-Doak match climaxed one of the best women's tournaments.

The Maddox-Doak match climaxed one of the best women's tournaments that has been held in Atlanta. It drew a record entry of 41 players and was sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's Golf Association, which has increased its membership to 115.

The veteran finalists had to stage gallant fights on the back nines Thursday to come from behind and win. They were paced by golfers with less experience on the first nine holes but both fought back to win their contests.

HARD BATTLE.

HARD BATTLE.

Mrs. H. B. Kirkpatrick gave Miss Maddox one of her hardest battles in recent play in the upper bracket. The veteran was one down at the turn, but squared the match at the tenth. They continued a great battle, until the closing holes, when Miss Maddox pulled away and won out. Her consistent putting and accuracy with the irons on the back nine were the reasons for victory.

Mrs. J. C. Wright, playing her best game of the week, gave Mrs. Doak, another veteran, a great battle and was leading two up through the 12th hole.

Fighting an excellent uphill battle

Fighting an excellent upbill battle and putting every ounce of energy in every shot, Mrs. Doak railied on the back nine and gave the spectators the thrill of the week. McCabe Holds Barons to Four Blows; Teams Hit Road. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Sept. 17.— (P)—Dick McCabe, who by chance was thrust into the Dixie series, wrote the second chapter of the basebal classic of the south today by pitching Houston to a 3-to-0 victory over Birmingham. The sturdy right-hander, borrowed from Fort Worth to replace Tex Carlton, injured Buffalo moundsman, silenced the Barons' heavy artillery, effectively and completely, to knot the count in games at one-all. He allowed four hits, a brace of singles and two doubles. doubles. Jimmy Walkup, diminutive Baron southpaw, had easy sailing until the fourth when Houston put across a pair of runs. Sheriff Hock led off with a single, was sacrificed to second and scored on a double by Carey Selph.

TIMELY HIT.

The second run resulted from a well-timed double steal, Medwick, clean-up man, grounded to Susko, who had to make a run for the putout, allowing Selph to go to third. Peel took a long lead off first and when Walkup tried to trap him, Selph headed for home. Peel was safe at second and Selph was home a jump ahead of Cortazzo's throw.

After fanning in two previous attempts, Guy Sturdy went to bat with one out in the ninth and unloaded a single. Joe Sprinz lined out and Sturdy crossed the plate for the third score when Joe Prerost made a desperate but fruitless effort to pull down Carey's drive into right field, which went for three bases.

Walkup went down fighting and was the individual star for the Barons. He broke through McCabe's puzzling delivery for three of his mate's hits, two singles and a double. He gave up seven hits.

hits, two singles and a double. He gave up seven hits.

So well did McCabe have the situation in hand that the Barons failed to get past second base. Walkups first single came in the fourth with two out and his second in the sixth with one out. Both times he was left stranded.

DIES ON BASE.

Gooch's double in the seventh also came with two out and he failed to advance. In the eighth Walkup doubled with two down and again died on base. Bancroft, hero of yesterday's Baron victory, ended the inning by fouling out to Sprinz.

Barron Also Comes Back. Ferguson's Toe Wins Him Chance.

By Jimmy Jones.

The Engineers of Georgia Tech are ramblin' right along toward the conlusion of their second week of pracclusion of their second week of practice, and things are going along about as smoothly as could be expected for early season. The absence of Pat Barron from practice because of examinations for the last two days has held up work a little in the backfield, but he is expected to be on hand today.

Quint Adams, the guard who was hurt Tuesday, also will join the squad today. His torn ligament has responded well to the dexterous treatment of Mr. Mike Chambers. Duck McKee, another guard, also has been brought around by Mike after showing up a little lane.

The Jackets worked yesterday before a gallery that overflowed into the field repeatedly and Coach Alex had to call a halt several times to move the spectators up on the bank.

Coach Alex is trying to make a halfback of Ferguson, star kicker. Ferguson is not so big but he is a very shifty runner and the Jacket coach figures that if he can work Ferguson into the attack, he will be a valuable man because of his toe.

Jack Cannon truly put the Jacket linemen through yesterday. The forwards filed off the field at twilight rather slowly and with heavy feet. The entire squad was ordered to sprint half the length of the field to prove its wind and Sid Williams, eet end and halfback, led the pack.

o call a halt several times of che spectators up on the bank.

The squad was drilled on blocking most of the afternoon. This phase of play is being given a great deal of attention this year and the Jacket plays will not be halted because of poor interference.

Coach Alex is trying to make a halfback of Ferguson, star kicker. Ferguson is not so big but he is a very shifty runner and the Jacket shot and then ask for a mashie on a 380-yard hole.

coach figures that it he guson into the attack, he will be a valuable man because of his toe.

There is one Tech man who believes that the Jackets are not going to be so light after all this year. He is Al Loeb, who played center at Tech in 1911-12-13, and weighed only 152 pounds at his peak.

"They talk about light men," said Al, "but take a look at that line, It's pretty husky. Farmer, Ezzell and Laws are around 200. Neblett would not be called a small man. Neither would Jerry Goldsmith. Small, eh? Well, weight doesn't matter so much if a lineman knows how to handle himself."

The King Cochrane has handled Grove's stuff for several years. He ought to know something about it. Mickey never handled Rube Waddell, Plank or Pennock.

But, as Mickey puts it: "If Grove isn't the best left-hander that ever lived, I can't imagine any one being better. I can say the same thing for any right-hander. In my opinion he is about as great a pitcher as base-ball ever knew. Imagine a fellow stepping out there week after week with a crippled ball club back of him, a ball club which frequently had half its regulars laid up, and then winning around 30. quently had half its regulars laid up, and then winning around 30 hall games with only three defeats. How could Johnson or Matty or any other have been better than this? This big left, hander has everything you could ask from a great pitcher and when the situation happens to tighten up, Earnshaw isn't so far behind."

These two, of course, are the big

These two, of course, are the big fleet end and halfback, led the pack.

Williams, by the way, looks as if he is completely recovered from his shoulder injury of last year

Sid is a very valuable man to have around as he can play a flank or a halfback position. Coach Alex has been bringing him along slowly until he gets fully well. But Sid seems certain of helping Tech a lot this year.

Three quarterbacks are being tried

Any number of teams jump into the thick of the firing without any warming up. Northwestern, for one example, opens against Nebraska and then Notre Dame. That isn't waiting so long for trouble on either side. And there is Yale with a new offense facing Georgia on October 10. And Georgia is coming north with something more than a collection of football uniforms, the ensemble consisting of little but veteran talent.

It will be a question of whether fairly green Yale line can stand up against the combined speed, power and experience that the Georgia offensive should carry into the game.

It Pays to Know.

Most of those who saw Benny Leonard swing into action this week in New Jersey have changed their minds about his comeback chance. They hadn't given him one chance in ten before. Now they see again that it pays to know your stuff, even after a five-year lay-off.

Leonard has always been ope of Leonard has always been one of the great boxers of all time. He knows far more about his trade, along the line of skill, than any of those left who might be named to tame him. And it hasn't hurt him a bit to keep in condition for those five years, even when he thought he had quit the ring for good. He still has a great pair of legs to carry him along and this is one of the main points to consider.

Whether he can come back far enough to reach the top again is anybody's guess now. But he will come a long way in that direction, anyway. Mickey Cochrane named Bottomley, Hafey, Simmons and Foxx as the most dangerous long distance hitters in the coming world series. Any ob-jection to adding the name of Mickey Cochrane to this list?

SARAZEN BEATS HORTON SMITH; BURKE VICTOR

Fourth Member of Semi-Final Quartet Is Tom Creavy.

By Bill King,

Associated Press Sports Writer. PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 17 .-P)—The weather today played a cruel trick on Tommy Armour, this year's British open champion and defending titlist in the Professional Golfers' Association tournament, for it rained heavily a short time before he started his 36-hole quarter-final match with young Denny Shute, of Hudson, Ohio. Shute wants plenty of dampness and the Wannamoisett course must have been just soggy enough to suit and the Wannamoisett course must have been just soggy enough to suit him, for he blazed along in such spectacular fashion that the "Black Scot" was forced to drop out of the championship quest at the 35th hole, where Denny had him topped by three holes. Denny's ability as a "mudder" put him in to a semi-final match with his Ryder teammate, Billy Burke, this Ryder teammate, Billy Burke, this year's open champion, who handed Abe Espinosa, of Chicago, a decisive 5-and-3 setback.

SARAZEN TRIUMPHS.

Gene Sarazen, twice P. G. A. champion and runner-up to Armour last year, had to wage an uphill fight against Horton Smith, of Detroit. Horton was 2 up when they quit for lunch but Gene, with two streaks, was 5 up when the match ended on the 32d hole.

Sarazen will clash with the other successful youngster, Tom Creavy, of Albany, N. Y., who put out Cyril Walker, of Ridgewood, N. J., the 1924 open champion, by a 3-and-1 margin. Denny clipped two off the outward nine's par of 35 in the morning and was 4 up on Tommy at the turn. The latter then played five of the next six holes in 3s, getting birdies on the 10th, 13th and 14th, but all this streak gave him was two holes, the Denny galloped in for lunch with a 68, the lowest round of the week-Armour, with a par 70, was 2 down. Shute three-putted the 17th for a 6 before getting a regulation 4

Don't forget that these Dempsey-Leonard comebacks have put a lot of people to work, even if the main portion of the job consists of taking one on the chin and then hitting the floor.

"If Espinosa refused to concede Bill Mehlborn a putt of 12 inches, why should Mehlborn concede one of six inches?" asks L. G. The answer is that Bill didn't.

The course outward was much drier when Shute drove off for the afternoon round. He used up 38 blows going to the 27th, but managed to hold his lead. Denny started back with a 3 on the 28th, another on the 30th, where Armour snared a birdie deuce, and a third on the next hole. Shute was 2 up when they drove from the 35th tee and he gained another hole with a par 4, Armour taking an extra stroke. ing an extra strok

Maynard Reaches
Finals at Venetian

Nelson Maynard advanced to the finals of the Venetian Athletic Club invitation tennis tournament with a three-set victory over Molly Williamson Thursday afternoon. The scores were 7-5, 6-4, 7-5.

In a quarter-final match, Malcolm Lockhart defeated Pierre Howard, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5, and will meet "Country" Martin this afternoon in the semifinals.

POOR BEGINNING.

Sarazen, who won Monday's medal, trapped many of his short-hole drives in the morning and three-putted on so many other holes that Smith had him 2 down at half-time.

Gene was back in form for the afternoon match. He won the first four holes, halved all but the 6th, which Smith took with a par 4, going out and became 1 up at the 27th. The match hole was halved in 4s and Sarazen put together another consumption on the 32d green.

Walker and Creavy battled evenly during the morning but the latter pulled into a one-hole lead at the 27th. He was 2 up when they reached the 35th tee. That hole went to Creavy when Walker took a 6.

Burke picked up an aerly two-hole lead, held it all through the opening round with Espinosa and padded it considerably during the afternoon.

ZAFFATER ON END.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17.—(UP) oe Zaffater, 185, an all-state tackle ed in almost every position on the Loyola football team in 1930, has been definitely groomed for an end this year and will likely start in the veteran Bob Smith's place with Louisiana College here Friday night. Racing Drivers, Perhaps, Are Our Fatalists; Consider Norske Larson

By Jimmy Jones.

They tell us that the aviators, particularly the polar aviators, are the real fatalists. But sometimes we wonder if the auto racing drivers are not our genuine "come what may" boys. Every time a helmeted knight of the steering wheel roars away on a race, old G. Reaper himself rides with him, ready to lop him off at the first false turn.

For 12 years Norske Larson, the St. Paul daredevil, drove the tracks of the country. Then he came back to his home town to unive in race and was killed. Before climbing into the little narrow seat for the fatal dash, Larson shook hands with a fellow driver and said: "Goodbye, and the said of the fatal dash, Larson shook hands with a fellow driver and said: "Goodbye, and the said of th pal, you know we never can tell what will happen in this game so I'll just shake your hand while I can"

Norske Larson drove off in a cloud? of dust and never came back. Ten thousand persons attended his funeral and six ministers, including his own father, had charge of ceremonies

Larson was a popular boy. He drove in the Fourth of July races in Atlanta, where everybody knew his ready smile and great daring. Did Larson have a sort of premo-nation that he was going to be killed? He didn't feel exactly right or he wouldn't have wanted to shake hands. Many drivers have gone to their deaths the same way and most of them had a sort of innate forewarn-

ANOTHER'S VIEW. "Confidentially, I think Larson was right, for most of us feel that the old hammer will fall sooner or later." This was an excerpt from a letter received from a noted driver who sent us the inside story of Larson. He was the man who shook Larson's hand and he later acted as Larson's pallbearer along with Sig Haugdahl, Frey Horey and L. J. Argoe of Atlanta.

A few days after Larson's death, Jimmy Gleason, another famous driv-er, was killed. GASOLINE AND DUST.

That pungent mixture of gasoline and dust holds a sort of fatal lure for and dust holds a sort of fatal lure for the professional driver. Many of them have narrow squeaks in near-fatal smash-ups but they always come back. Billy Arnold barely got out with his life after going into the railing with a seven-lap lead in the Indianapolis 500-mile classic. Billy gave out an interview at the hospital, bemoaning the loss of the race and his machine, but didn't say much about his life didn't say much about his life that had been saved.

The average man never sympathizes much with the professional drivers. He is a little callous because professionals drive for money. IT IS NOT.

But is the money they earn a fair ecompense for the chances they take on their lives Judging by the annual toll of those who fall victim to the irresistible lure of gasoline and dust,

And race drivers' wives. They And race drivers wives. They open telegrams with trembling hands and are startled by the telephone's ring. But they are pseudo-fatalists, too.
Gasoline and dust—a simple com ination that enslaves men.

The three sluggers were in a deadlock today, each with an average of .342, and Chick Hafey, Bottomley's teammates on the Cardinals, threatened to make it a foursome. He had a .340 mark. Terry held what he had yesterday by collecting two hits in five trips, while Bottomley lost two points and Klein one to make matters all square. Babe Ruth gained a point on Al Simmons in the American league by belt-ing four hits, including his 41st and 42d home runs against the Browns. The leaders:

Repurchases by a cumbersome short interest gave the share market its only noticeable gain so far this month. Coming in the last hour, the rise achieved considerable momentum and then slowed down, so that final prices were a point or so under the top in many cases. Nevertheless, the average net improvement was 1.7 points, the best showing since late August. Sales totaled 2,392,950 shares.

SLOW IMPROVEMENT

SEEN IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 17.—(P)—

The cotton market ruled very quiet dency to improve slowly. After an opening drop of 8 to 10 points which is carried prices down to new low levels for the season, despite favorable Liverpool cables. October which had declined to 6.46 at the start rallied to 6.55, up 9 points from the lows and 1 point above yesterday's close. The market ruled steady most of the afternoon and December made a new high for the day, 12 points above the low. In the late trading, however, the market eased off 4 to 8 points on hedge selling and closed steady at net declines for the day of 3 to 4 points. Liverpool is due tomorrow 1 penny point up to 1 down on New Orleans.

Liverpool came in as due to 1 penny point worse than due. Private cables stated that there had been hedge selling and liquidation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—In the early trading the market declined to net losses of 5 to 8 points, and into new low ground for the season. Later it rallied to net gains of 4 to 6 points but in the last lost most of this improvement. Final prices were 3 to 5 under last nightly under the previous lows induced considerable trade buying and not a little short covering, especially by Wall Street and the west. There add not appear to be mach hedge selling and the undertone was excellent until just before the close, when south and local professionals sold in larger volume.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The industrials, rails and utilities made new lows early this morning on selling, which appeared to be a carryover from the pressure of late Wednesday. The ensuing rally today developed without supporting news of a tangible character and was, it would seem, largely technical in nature. Near the close strength lost some of the snap.
We doubt that selling in the utilities has been altogether completed. It is in this section of the market where pressure has on appeared to be more aggressive recently it than in either the industrial or rail divisions. Pressure on the rails has lightened a substantially. PEER & CO.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—The cotton market opened 8 to 9 points down this morning on what appeared to be a continuation of the selling movement developed in the late trading Wednesday, due to weakness in the stock market. Prices began to improve abortly after the opening when the stock market trailing and by noon were back to the previous closing level. Liverpool cables were about as due. Liverpool cabled market there felt hedging and liquidation. Exprian and indian futures and spots were down. The market was inactive but steady after noon and closed with net losses of only 2 points on active months.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—The market trend has been irregular today, September ranging above last night's close most of the day, while December and May have worked lower, due to rather persistent selling in small lots which appeared to be in way of profit-taking. Another severe decline in the Argentine exchange and consequently in Buenos Aires wheat prices failed to cause any weakness in Liverpool, which was firmer because of Russian and French news and prospects of a much larger Chinese demand. A much better character was seen in our export trade, sales being estimated at 1,000.000 bushels, largely Manitoba, but it developed that included in resterday's sales were three full cargoes of hard winters to Greece.

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by North American Newsonaper Alliance, Inc.) NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—Buying

New YORK, Sept. 17.—Buying for support purposes, together with the appearance of a substantial volume of investment purchases, turned the general stock market upward today following early irregularity in which some new low prices for the bear market were established.

The improved undertone of the general list appeared in the early afternoon and precipitated a substantial volume of covering by professional bear traders. Earlier in the day the pivotal stocks showed losses of from a fraction to more than a point but the afternoon improvement wiped out all losses and replaced them with gains ranging from 2 to 4 points in the most active issues.

The rally was the first impressive upward movement in two weeks. Most tof the gains were maintained we to the close, when final prices were only slightly under the best. The afternoon betterment was accompanied by reports that some favorable news would be released overnight at Washington and that it would have to do with freight rates.

Color seemed to be given this report by the quick rebound which occurred in the transportation shares following early heaviness in which a number of the common carriers sold at new low prices. Buying for support purposes was reported to have come from one of the large international banking houses and one of the big operators on the constructive side of the market.

TARZAN AT THE EARTH'S CORE No. 95

While Ja's fleet was still a considerable distance off the coast, the O-220 raced ahead at full speed toward Korsar. The plan was to affect the rescue of David I without bloodshed. As the dirigible glided over the inner world's principal city, its streets and courtyards filled with people staring upward in awestruck wonder. Three thousand feet above Korsar, the ship stopped and Tarzan sent for the three Korsar prisoners. BUSINESS SERVICE EMPLOYMENT

With stern face the ape-man addressed Lajo. have shown and explained to you all these deadly bombs that could easily blow up The Cid's palace. They could destroy all Korsar. You have seen the fleet coming to rescue the Emperor of Pellucidar. Your whole country is at our mercy. Now I am going to give you a chance to save it, for you shall take a message to The Cid. Will you tell him the truth?" The Korsar trembled, for he did not know what to expect, but he answered: "I will."

"Very well," answered Tarzan. "The message is simple. Tell your ruler we demand the release of Pellucidar's Emperor at once. Explain how we can enforce our will. If he places the Emperor enforce our will. It he places the Emperor upon a ship and sends him unharmed to our fleet, we will go away without firing a shot. If not, the blood of all his subjects will be upon his head. Do you understand?" "I do," whispered Lajo. Tarzan led him aft where a bundle was waiting. "It is a parachute," he said, "put your arms through here."

Quickly the parachute was adjusted. Its mechancurrently the parachute was adjusted. Its mechanism was explained to the Korsar, carefully. They led him to a door in the cabin and flung it open. The man hesitated. "Remember," said Tarzan. "your message to The Cid." "Don't forget to jerk the ring," cautioned Jason. Then, pale, but showing no other fear, laid the Korsan in readjerk the ring," cautioned Jason. Ihen, pale, but showing no other fear, Lajo, the Korsar jumped off into space. A moment later the watchers saw the white folds of the parachute streaming in the air—saw it open and knew that the message of Tarzan would be delivered to The Cid of Korsar.

GOTHAM RIVALS SLAY GANGSTER

NEW TORK, Sent. 17.—(P)—
Meyer Shapiro, a Brooklyn racketeer, who was known in the underworld for his carefully selected wardrobe, died today of a bullet which police said was fired by a member of a rival gang led by Shapiro's former partner. Two members of that group, led by Abe Reles, were charged tonight with Shapiro's murder. The pair, Martin Goldstein, 25, and Harry Malone, 22, were locked up on order of Assistant District Attorney Saul Price, despite alibis. A third man, unnamed, also was held.

They had been arraigned earlier in the day, together with their leader, Reles, on charges of violating the Sullivan anti-firearms law.

Shapiro, authorities learned, had abblad in a variety of illiois enter.

The correct answer for picture No. 6 can be found here: "Possession is nine points of the law," "Only one can be an emperor," "Health is better than wealth," "Strike while the iron is hot," "People who live in glass houses should never throw stones," "None patient but the wise," "Quick come, quick go," "A crowd is not company," "Do not carry too much sail," "He liveth long that liveth well," "Fine feathers make fine birds," "Every cloud has a silver lining," "They conquer who believe they can." "The heart does not lie." Shapiro, authorities learned, had dabbled in a variety of illicit enterprises and recently was believed to have tried to muscle in on the alcohol trade in the lower East Side. He was found dead in a dark hallway by a sleepy-eyed newsboy.

MOCCASIN PLAYS ON SATURDAY

Robertson Sends Men Through Shortest Session; Myers Back.

By Jack Troy.

Oglethorpe's Petrels will hold their first business-like scrimmage of the season Saturday afternoon. Coach Harry Robertson announced yesterday afternoon, after sending his candidates through the shortest workout yet held.

The Petrel varsity will clash with the freshmen using Chattanooga for-mations. There will be no scrimmage his afternoon.

Thursday afternoon saw the Petrels in a session of punting and signals that lasted but an hour. Young Frank Anderson. Ray Walker and Charley George did some excellent kicking while it lasted.

Wicorge did some excellent kicking while it lasted.

Andy Morrow and Dan Kenzie were the only players to miss the short drill. The former is out with a leg infection and the latter is ill.

Dapper Myers reported for the practice with his back injury much improved and ran signals with the tentative varsity backfield. It is certain that he will be in condition for the opening game.

George Gaillard was shifted from fullback to end yesterday, pairing with Phil Hildreath, former halfback, on the second eleven. Coach Robertson believes that with practice they will solve the problem of reserve strength.

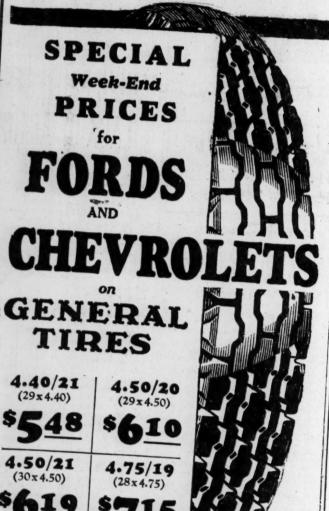

Coach Robertson was in rare mood yesterday and took over the center job on the third team. He was an

Wingard's Transfer Is Adjudged Illegal

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(P)—President Thomas Hickey, of the American association, today ruled the sale of and pitcher, by the Toledo club to Indianapolis as "illegal" and refused to allow the deal to be consummated.

"Under the constitution of the American association, no player can be sold to another club between Sepotember 1 and the close of the season," explained President Hickey, "Therefore, I have disapproved the recent sale as illegal. The waiver route is the only transfer route by which a player can be sent to a rival club between those dates."

Mrs. Pacquette, who suffered a nervous collapse yesterday, aggravated by a heart ailment and other complications that probably will necessitate an operation, bravely received word last night that wreckage of the plane used by Pacquette and Cramer had been found at sea.

"That is the end," she said. "They could not have lived if they landed in the sca. Neither wore a parachute or life belt because they felt that if they landed in that cold water a quick death would be merciful."
